2025 STANLEY CUP PLAYOFFS FORMAT

Twelve first-round playoff berths are awarded to the top three finishers in each of the four divisions. These teams are the first three "seeds" in each division. Two additional "Wild Card" berths are awarded to the next two highest-placed finishers in each conference, ranked on the basis of regular-season points and regardless of division. The first-place finisher with the highest number of regular-season points in the conference is matched against the Wild Card team with the lowest number of regular-season points, and the first-place finisher with the second-highest number of regular-season points in the conference is matched against the Wild Card team with the second-lowest number of regular-season points.

In each division, the team seeded #1 plays #4; #2 plays #3.

The two advancing teams in the West and two advancing teams in the East meet in the Conference Finals.

The Eastern and Western Conference champions meet in the Stanley Cup Final.

Home-ice advantage in the Stanley Cup Final is determined by regular-season points.

All series are best-of-seven.

HISTORY OF STANLEY CUP PLAYOFF FORMATS

1917-18 — The regular season is split into two halves. The winners of both halves face each other in a two-game, total-goals series for the NHL championship and the right to meet the Pacific Coast Hockey Association (PCHA) champion in the best-of-five Stanley Cup Final.

1918-19 — Same as 1917-18, except that the NHL Final is extended to a best-of-seven series.

1919-20 — Same as 1917-18, except that the Ottawa Senators (1917) win both halves of their split regular-season schedule to earn an automatic berth in the best-of-five Stanley Cup Final against the PCHA champions.

1922-23 — The top two teams at the conclusion of the regular season face each other in a two-game, total-goals series for the NHL championship. The NHL champion then moves on to play the PCHA champion in the best-of-three Stanley Cup Semifinal, and the winner of the Semifinal plays the WCHL champion, who had been given a bye, in the best-of-three Stanley Cup Final.

1923-24 — The top two teams at the conclusion of the regular season face each other in a two-game, total-goals series for the NHL championship. The NHL champion then moves on to play the loser of the PCHA-WCHL playoff (the winner of the PCHA-WCHL playoff earns a bye into the Stanley Cup Final) in the best-of-three Stanley Cup Semifinal. The winner of this series meets the PCHA-WCHL playoff winner in the best-of-three Stanley Cup Final.

1924-25 — The first-place team (Hamilton Tigers) at the conclusion of the regular season is scheduled to play the winner of a two-game, total-goals series between the second- (Toronto St. Patricks) and third- (Montreal Canadiens) place teams. However, Hamilton refuses to abide by this new format, demanding greater compensation than offered by the League. Thus, Toronto and Montreal play their two-game, total-goals series, and the winner (Montreal) earns the NHL title and then plays the WCHL champion (Victoria Cougars) in the best-of-five Stanley Cup Final.

1925-26 — The format that was intended for 1924-25 goes into effect. The winner of the two-game, total-goals series between the second- and third-place teams faces off against the first-place team in the two-game, total-goals NHL championship series. The NHL champion then moves on to play the Western Hockey League champion in the best-of-five Stanley Cup Final. After the 1925-26 season, the NHL becomes the only major professional hockey league still in existence and consequently takes over sole control of the Stanley Cup competition.

1926-27 — The 10-team league is divided into two divisions – Canadian and American – of five teams apiece. In each division, the winner of the two-game, total-goals series between the second- and third-place teams faces the first-place team in a two-game, total-goals series for the division title. The two division title winners then meet in the best-of-five Stanley Cup Final.

1928-29 — The first-place teams in the two divisions play each other in a best-of-five series. The second-place teams in the two divisions play each other in a two-game, total-goals series – as do the two third-place teams. The winners of these latter two series then play each other in a best-of-three series for the right to meet the winner of the series between the two first-place teams. This Stanley Cup Final is a best-of-three.

Series A: Team #1 in Canadian Division vs. Team #1 in American Division (best-of-five)
Series B: Team #2 in Canadian Division vs. Team #2 in American Division (two-game, total-goals)
Series C: Team #3 in Canadian Division vs. Team #3 in American Division (two-game, total-goals)
Series D: Winner of Series B vs. Winner of Series C (best-of-three)
Series E: Winner of Series A vs. Winner of Series D (best-of-three) for Stanley Cup

1930-31 — Same as 1928-29, except that Series D is changed to a two-game, total-goals format and Series E is changed to best-of-five.

1936-37 — Same as 1931-32, except that Series B, C and D are each best-of-three.

1938-39 — With the NHL reduced to seven teams, the two-division system is replaced by one seven-team League. Based on final regular-season standings, the following playoff format is adopted:

Series A: Team #1 vs. Team #2 (best-of-seven)
Series B: Team #3 vs. Team #4 (best-of-three)
Series C: Team #5 vs. Team #6 (best-of-three)
Series D: Winner of Series B vs. Winner of Series C (best-of-three) Series E: Winner of Series A vs. Winner of Series D (best-of-seven)

1942-43 — With the NHL reduced to six teams (the "Original Six"), only the top four finishers qualify for playoff action. The best-of-seven Semifinals pits Team #1 vs. Team #3 and Team #2 vs. Team #4. The winners of each Semifinal series meet in the best-of-seven Stanley Cup Final.

1967-68 — When it doubles in size from six to 12 teams, the NHL once again is divided into two divisions – East and West – of six teams apiece. The top four teams in each division qualify for the playoffs (all series are best-of-seven):

Series A: Team #1 (East) vs. Team #3 (East)
Series B: Team #2 (East) vs. Team #4 (East)
Series C: Team #1 (West) vs. Team #3 (West)
Series D: Team #2 (West) vs. Team #4 (West)
Series E: Winner of Series A vs. Winner of Series B
Series F: Winner of Series C vs. Winner of Series D
Series G: Winner of Series E vs. Winner of Series F

1970-71 — Same as 1967-68, except that Series E matches the winners of Series A and D, and Series F matches the winners of Series B and C.

1971-72 — Same as 1970-71, except that Series A and C match the first- and fourth-place teams, and Series B and D match the second- and third-place teams.

1974-75 — With the League now expanded to 18 teams in four divisions, a completely new playoff format is introduced. First, the #2 and #3 teams in each of the four divisions are pooled together in the Preliminary Round. These eight (#2 and #3) teams are ranked #1 to #8 based on regular-season record:

Series A: Team #1 vs. Team #8 (best-of-three)
Series B: Team #2 vs. Team #7 (best-of-three)
Series C: Team #3 vs. Team #6 (best-of-three)
Series D: Team #4 vs. Team #5 (best-of-three)

The winners of this Preliminary Round then are pooled together with the four division winners, who had received byes into this Quarterfinals. These eight teams are again ranked #1 to #8 based on regular-season record:

Series E: Team #1 vs. Team #8 (best-of-seven)
Series F: Team #2 vs. Team #7 (best-of-seven)
Series G: Team #3 vs. Team #6 (best-of-seven)
Series H: Team #4 vs. Team #5 (best-of-seven)

The four Quarterfinals winners, who moved on to the Semifinals, are then ranked #1 to #4 based on regular-season record:

Series I: Team #1 vs. Team #4 (best-of-seven)
Series J: Team #2 vs. Team #3 (best-of-seven)
Series K: Winner of Series I vs. Winner of Series J (best-of-seven)

1977-78 — Same as 1974-75, except that the Preliminary Round consists of the #2 teams in the four divisions and the next four teams based on regular-season record (not their standings within their divisions).

1979-80 — The League expands its playoff structure to include 16 teams. The four first-place teams in the four divisions automatically earn playoff berths. Another 12, according to regular-season record, also earn berths. All 16 teams then are pooled together and ranked #1 to #16 based on regular-season record:

Series A: Team #1 vs. Team #16 (best-of-five)
Series B: Team #2 vs. Team #15 (best-of-five)
Series C: Team #3 vs. Team #14 (best-of-five)
Series D: Team #4 vs. Team #13 (best-of-five)
Series E: Team #5 vs. Team #12 (best-of-five)
Series F: Team #6 vs. Team #11 (best-of-five)
Series G: Team #7 vs. Team #10 (best-of-five)
Series H: Team #8 vs. Team # 9 (best-of-five)

The eight Preliminary Round winners, ranked #1 to #8 based on regular-season record, move on to the Quarterfinals:

Series I: Team #1 vs. Team #8 (best-of-seven)
Series J: Team #2 vs. Team #7 (best-of-seven)
Series K: Team #3 vs. Team #6 (best-of-seven)
Series L: Team #4 vs. Team #5 (best-of-seven)

The four Quarterfinals winners, ranked #1 to #4 based on regular-season record, move on to the Semifinals:

Series M: Team #1 vs. Team #4 (best-of-seven)
Series N: Team #2 vs. Team #3 (best-of-seven)
Series O: Winner of Series M vs. winner of Series N (best-of-seven)

1981-82 — The first four teams in each division earn playoff berths. In each division, the first-place team opposes the fourth-place team and the second-place team opposes the third-place team in a best-of-five Division Semifinal (DSF) series. In each division, the two winners of the DSF meet in a best-of-seven Division Final (DF). The two DF winners in each conference meet in a best-of-seven Conference Final (CF). In the Prince of Wales Conference, the Adams Division winner opposes the Patrick Division winner; in the Clarence Campbell Conference, the Smythe Division winner opposes the Norris Division winner. The two CF winners meet in a best-of-seven Stanley Cup Final.

1986-87 — The Division Semifinals changes from best-of-five to best-of-seven.

1993-94 — The NHL's playoff draw is conference-based rather than division-based. At the conclusion of the regular season, the top eight teams in each of the Eastern and Western Conferences qualifies for the playoffs. The teams that finish in first place in each of the League's divisions are seeded first and second in each conference's playoff draw and assured of home-ice advantage in the first two playoff rounds. The remaining teams are seeded based on their regular-season point totals. In each conference, the team seeded #1 plays #8; #2 vs. #7; #3 vs. #6; and #4 vs. #5. All series are best-of-seven with home ice rotating on a 2-2-1-1-1 basis, with the exception of matchups between Central and Pacific Division teams. These matchups are played on a 2-3-2 basis to reduce travel. In a 2-3-2 series, the team with the most points can choose to start the series at home or on the road. The Eastern Conference champion faces the Western Conference champion in the Stanley Cup Final.

1994-95 — Same as 1993-94, except that in first-, second- or third-round playoff series involving Central and Pacific Division teams, the team with the better record has the choice of using either a 2-3-2 or a 2-2-1-1-1 format. When a 2-3-2 format is selected, the higher-ranked team also has the choice of playing games 1, 2, 6 and 7 at home or playing games 3, 4 and 5 at home. The format for the Stanley Cup Final remains 2-2-1-1-1.

1998-99 — The NHL's teams are realigned into two conferences, each consisting of three divisions. The number of teams qualifying for the Stanley Cup Playoffs remains at 16. First-round playoff berths are awarded to the first-place team in each division as well as to the next five best teams based on regular-season point totals in each conference. The three division winners in each conference are seeded first through third, in order of points, for the playoffs and the next five best teams, in order of points, are seeded fourth through eighth. In each conference, the team seeded #1 plays #8; #2 vs. #7; #3 vs. #6; and #4 vs. #5 in the Conference Quarterfinals. Home-ice advantage in the Conference Quarterfinals is granted to those teams seeded first through fourth in each conference. In the Conference Semifinals and Conference Finals, teams are reseeded according to the same criteria as the Conference Quarterfinals. Higher-seeded teams gain home-ice advantage. Home-ice advantage for the Stanley Cup Final is determined by regular-season points. All series remain best-of-seven.

2013-14 — The NHL's teams are realigned into two conferences, each consisting of two divisions. The number of teams qualifying for the Stanley Cup Playoffs remains unchanged at 16. Twelve first-round playoff berths are awarded to the top three finishers in each of the four divisions. These teams are the first three "seeds" in each division. Two additional "Wild Card" berths are awarded to the next two highest-placed finishers in each conference, ranked on the basis of regular-season points and regardless of division. The first-place finisher with the highest number of regular-season points in the conference is matched against the Wild Card team with the lowest number of regular-season points, and the first-place finisher with the second-highest number of regular-season points in the conference is matched against the Wild Card team with the second-lowest number of regular-season points.

In each division, the team seeded #1 plays #4; #2 plays #3.

The two advancing teams in the West and two advancing teams in the East meet in the Conference Finals.

The Eastern and Western Conference champions meet in the Stanley Cup Final.

2019-20 — The NHL announces on May 26, 2020, the conclusion of the 2019-20 regular season as well as a modified competitive playoff format that features 24 teams – the top 12 in each conference based on points percentage at the time of the League's pause (through games of March 11, 2020).

The NHL pauses its season on March 12, 2020, due to concerns about COVID-19, having played 85.1 percent of the 2019-20 regular-season schedule that started in early October 2019 (1,082 of 1,271 games). The remaining 189 games originally scheduled from March 12 – April 4, 2020, are canceled.

2020 Stanley Cup Qualifiers
The 2020 Stanley Cup Playoffs begin with the 2020 Stanley Cup Qualifiers, which feature both a Round Robin and Qualifying Round.

The top four teams in each conference compete in a seeding Round Robin, which features regular-season overtime rules. Ties in the Round Robin are broken by regular-season points percentage. The seeding order for these teams remains the same throughout the 2020 Stanley Cup Playoffs.

The following eight teams in each conference play in the Qualifying Round, featuring best-of-five series (#5 vs. #12, #6 vs. #11, #7 vs. #10, #8 vs. #9) to determine who advances to the First Round of the 2020 Stanley Cup Playoffs. These series use playoff overtime rules.

"Seeding" Format
In each succeeding round of the 2020 Stanley Cup Playoffs, the highest remaining seed in each conference faces the lowest remaining seed, the second-highest remaining seed in each conference faces the second-lowest remaining seed, etc.

Series Lengths
All rounds after the 2020 Stanley Cup Qualifiers feature best-of-seven series (First Round, Second Round, Conference Finals, Stanley Cup Final).

"Home" Ice
In the 2020 Stanley Cup Qualifiers, the higher-seeded team is designated as the home team in Games 1, 2 and 5. The lower-seeded team is designated as the home team in Games 3 and 4.

In the 2020 First Round, Second Round and Conference Finals, the higher-seeded team is designated as the home team in Games 1, 2, 5 and 7. The lower-seeded team is designated as the home team in Games 3, 4 and 6.

In the 2020 Stanley Cup Final, the team with the higher regular-season points percentage is designated as the home team in Games 1, 2, 5 and 7. The team with the lower regular-season points percentage is designated as the home team in Games 3, 4 and 6.

Hub Cities
The 12 participating Eastern Conference teams play at Scotiabank Arena in Toronto, while the 12 participating Western Conference teams compete at Rogers Place in Edmonton for the 2020 Stanley Cup Qualifiers as well as the 2020 First Round and Second Round.

The 2020 Stanley Cup Playoffs shift entirely to Edmonton for the Conference Finals and Stanley Cup Final.

2020-21 — The Stanley Cup Playoffs features 16 teams in the traditional best-of-seven, four-round format.

The top four teams in each division (Discover NHL Central Division, Honda NHL West Division, MassMutual NHL East Division and Scotia NHL North Division) qualify for the postseason, with intradivisional play in the first two rounds (#1 vs. #4; #2 vs. #3).

The four teams that advance to the Semifinal Round are seeded by their regular-season point total, with the No. 1 seed playing the No. 4 seed in one series and the No. 2 and No. 3 seeds meeting in the other.

2021-22 — Following two seasons in which the playoff format was adjusted to accommodate the unique circumstances surrounding the COVID-19 pandemic, the NHL returns to the format in place from 2013-14 through 2018-19.

FIRST ROUND MATCHUP NOTES

This marks the first postseason "Battle of Ontario" since 2004 and the fifth overall, with Toronto owning a perfect series record against its provincial rivals. The Maple Leafs and Senators have required a Game 7 in each of their previous two playoff matchups (2004 and 2002). Toronto's Max Domi was 9 years old when his father, Tie, scored the game-winning goal for the Maple Leafs in Game 5 of the 2004 Conference Quarterfinals against the Senators. Ottawa head coach Travis Green played for Toronto in the "Battle of Ontario" in 2002, while assistant coach Daniel Alfredsson captained the Senators in all four previous head-to-head postseason series (also 2001 and 2000).

A series packed with 4 Nations Face-Off stars, the "Battle of Florida" will happen in the playoffs for the fourth time overall – all in the past five years. The winner of each Lightning-Panthers series has reached the Stanley Cup Final (TBL in 2021 and 2022, FLA in 2024). Overall, the state of Florida has been represented in the Stanley Cup Final for five straight years (2020-24), resulting in three championships. The only states or provinces to feature a run of at least six consecutive years in the Stanley Cup Final are Quebec (10 from 1951-60), Alberta (8 from 1983-90) and New York (6 from 1979-84).

*   *   *   *   *

The only previous postseason series between these teams was in the 2010 Conference Quarterfinals, when the Canadiens entered as the lowest-ranked playoff team and rallied from a 3-1 series deficit to upset the Presidents' Trophy-winning Capitals in seven games. Washington's Alex Ovechkin and John Carlson are the only remaining players on either roster from that series (minimum: 1 GP in 2024-25). Ovechkin (5-3—8) and Montreal head coach Martin St. Louis (2-6—8) met 11 times as players in the Stanley Cup Playoffs.

The Hurricanes and Devils are set to face off in the postseason for the sixth time overall and second time in three years (2023 R2). This will be their fourth opening-round meeting, with the previous three requiring at least six games. Carolina owns a 4-1 overall series edge, including four straight wins. New Jersey's lone series victory was in the 2001 Conference Quarterfinals en route to reaching the Stanley Cup Final. Three of the prior five series winners have advanced to the Stanley Cup Final (NJD in 2001, CAR in 2002 and 2006).

WC2 ST. LOUIS BLUES — STANLEY CUP PLAYOFFS 2025 FIRST ROUND — WINNIPEG JETS C1

This marks the second playoff meeting between these franchises, with the Blues winning 4-2 in the 2019 First Round after a late-season surge up the standings en route to their first Stanley Cup. A battle of the Presidents' Trophy winners (WPG) and the League's top team since the 4 Nations Face-Off (STL), this series also features the two goaltenders who started in the championship of February's international competition: Canada's Jordan Binnington (STL) and the United States' Connor Hellebuyck (WPG).

* * * * *

C3 COLORADO AVALANCHE — STANLEY CUP PLAYOFFS 2025 FIRST ROUND — DALLAS STARS C2

These franchises are meeting in the playoffs for the seventh time overall, third time in six campaigns and second straight postseason. Dallas has won each of the past two matchups and owns a 4-2 series edge overall. The Stars now have Mikko Rantanen on their side of the rivalry. Rantanen, a Stanley Cup champion with the Avalanche in 2022 and the fourth-highest playoff scorer in that franchise's history, started the campaign in Colorado but landed in Dallas via a pair of midseason trades.

* * * * *

WC1 MINNESOTA WILD — STANLEY CUP PLAYOFFS 2025 FIRST ROUND — VEGAS GOLDEN KNIGHTS P1

This marks the second playoff series between the Golden Knights and Wild, with current Minnesota goaltender Marc-Andre Fleury leading Vegas to a Game 7 victory in the 2021 First Round after the Wild rallied from a 3-1 series deficit. The Golden Knights still have 10 players who participated in that series, while the Wild have eight. Vegas is the second team in the NHL's expansion era (since 1967-68), following Edmonton, to win its division at least four times within its first eight seasons.

* * * * *

P3 EDMONTON OILERS — STANLEY CUP PLAYOFFS 2025 FIRST ROUND — LOS ANGELES KINGS P2

The Kings and Oilers are facing off in the postseason for the 11th time overall and fourth straight year (all in the First Round). This marks the fifth time in NHL history that two teams are meeting in the opening round of the playoffs in four or more consecutive years. Edmonton has won six straight head-to-head series dating to the 1990 Division Finals as well as eight of the previous 10 overall. These teams also played each other in four straight postseasons from 1989-92, though not all in the opening round.
